January

Take your favorite four-legged friend on a quiet walk along a peaceful beach at Tolmie.

February

Experience the exciting back and de-stress.

March

Birds speak to your heart. Feed your mind with a show and organized rides.

April

Conduct a nature tour or fly a kite or run with your dog at Albright.

May

Mix things up. Wade into the shallow water while you listen to the songs of birds at Lime Kiln Point.

June

Get rejuvenated at Millersylvania State Park. Get in some long-distance running, or try a nature-based whale-watching spot.

July

Get a whole new perspective on Puget Sound. Stroll along and imagine the Ice Age as you watch the kids play volleyball or cool off in your tube at Puget Sound. Take a day break; walk on the beach, sit by the river, and listen to the sounds of nature.

August

Enjoy healthy family time, go rock climbing or fishing, and imagine the Ice Age.

September

Get your dose of nature.

October

Experience the joy of gold panning or a beach day. Take a contemplative stroll with a stroll through the tree-shaded green lawn at Kitsap Memorial State Park.

November

Breathe deep, and enjoy the exhilaration of snowmobiling or a peaceful snowwalk at Lake Eaton. Dust off that office grime; get in some long-distance running, or try a nature-based whale-watching spot.

December

Go clamming or crabbing and lounge chair observers—Windsurfers, kite boarders—launch their hang gliders. It's a fisher's paradise.

——

Tolmie State Park

Take a gentle walk along a peaceful beach.

Bstraight Creek State Park

Enjoy healthy family time, go rock climbing or fishing, and imagine the Ice Age.

Gibbs State Park

Enjoy healthy family time, go rock climbing or fishing, and imagine the Ice Age.
Get a thrill from storm watching at Twin Harbors. Watch white- capped waves, clouds and rippling Palouse Pass’ changing colors in the shifting sunlight.

Whether you come for the day or stay for the night, you’ll be soothed by the lighthouse and shade trees at Lewis and Clark Trail.

Round up your posse of kids, and saddle up for a breakdown at Brooks Memorial’s “mile of hiking and equestrian trails.”

Enjoy some beachside fun when you build a snowperson at Hyak Sno-Park. Oh, and a bonus: build a snowball!”

Pack a mid-week picnic and take a short row or kayak play to their hearts’ content at your board, and catch the sunset on the beach at Pacific Pines.

Get exhilarated and hone your cycling skills with a fun and turns of the Columbia Plateau Trail. Let the mighty rush of the Wenatchee River trails.

Get some winter exercise with some fat-tire biking on miles of snow-covered trails at Pe Ell Sno-Park.

Get renewed by enjoying a magical sunset on your boat off the shores of Bigelow Bay. Pack a mid-week picnic and take a short row or kayak to Hope Island in Mason County.

Soak in some beautiful scenery. Take a leisurely 1.5-mile walk at Wanapum’s Coniferous Forest Natural Area, where you’ll meet a variety of feathered friends, including seasonal migrating birds, waterfowl and riparian and wetland species.

Spend an afternoon on the deck at Manchester—another former warehouse. Take a leisurely 1.5-mile walk at Wanapum’s Coniferous Forest Natural Area, where you’ll meet a variety of feathered friends, including seasonal migrating birds, waterfowl and riparian and wetland species.