the West Beach Parking lot. This facility was constructed in 2017 by highly skilled park employees using materials from around the park. It contains thirty-two benches creating stadium seating, a covered performance area, along with views of Deception Pass Bridge beyond the stage. The Amphitheater is reservable though www.parks.wa.gov or by calling (888) CAMPOUT.

Recreation

Fishing and boating

Deception Pass features a variety of popular water activities, including boating, sailing, kayaking, canoeing and fishing. The park offers both saltwater and freshwater fishing opportunities for salmon, ling cod, shrimp and many other fish species. Cornet Bay has six saltwater boat launch ramps and there is a single lane at Bowman Bay.

The park's two lakes, Cranberry Lake and Pass Lake, offer quiet, protected waters with small launches for freshwater fishing. Only electric motors are permitted on Cranberry Lake; combustion engines are prohibited. On Pass Lake, all motors are prohibited and only catch-and-release fly fishing is permitted.

The saltwater areas of the Pass and nearby bays and passages are very scenic, but also extremely dangerous due to strong currents, winds, and waves coming in from the Strait. Use caution and care while on the water, obey all safety rules, and know your limits and the limits of your vessel.

Biking and horseback riding

Some trails in the park are open to bikes and horseback riding. The southern portion of Hoypus Forest offers the most multi-use trails. Check the official park map (reverse side) to see on which trails these activities are permitted.

Interpretive programs

Throughout the summer, regularly scheduled interpretive walks and talks and Junior Ranger programs are presented at various locations throughout the park. Check at the welcome station or park kiosks for current schedules. Some special programs are offered by advance reservation. Please contact Deception Pass Interpretive Services at (360) 675-3767 ext. 31, for more information.

Camping facilities

The park has 172 standard sites and 134 partial-hookup sites with water and electricity. Campsites are very popular, especially during summer. Each standard site has a table, a fire ring and water nearby. Reservations are highly recommended. Please visit www.parks.wa.gov or call (888) CAMPOUT to make reservations.

Cranberry Lake Campground (open seasonally)

- Hidden in the old-growth forest between North Beach, West Beach and Cranberry Lake on Whidbey Island, Cranberry Lake Campground is the largest campground at Deception Pass.
- 147 standard sites
- 83 partial-hookup sites - mostly in the Forest Loop
- Five hiker/biker sites
- Showers in all restrooms

Quarry Pond Campground (open year round)

- The park's newest campground; set beside a pleasant rock-rimmed pond to the east of Highway 20.
- Seven standard sites
- 49 partial-hookup sites
- One hiker/biker site
- Kitchen shelter and a gazebo at center of campground
- Restroom with showers
- Five rustic cabins

Bowman Bay Campground (open seasonally)

- A small, old-fashioned campground tucked into the trees and close to the water.
- 18 standard sites
- Two partial-hookup sites
- Showers in nearby restroom

Group camping

Designated sites for group camping are available. Please visit www.parks.wa.gov or call (888) CAMPOUT for more information.

Picnic and event facilities

Ten CCC-era kitchen shelters are available for reservation for large or small groups. Fees vary depending on shelter and group size. Visit www.parks.wa.gov or call (888) CAMPOUT to make reservations.

Several sheltered and unsheltered picnic tables are available throughout the park on a first-come, first-served basis.

History of Deception Pass

With dramatic headlands, tranquil forests, windswept beaches and quiet meadows, Deception Pass State Park captures your imagination and invites your exploration. Spanning the tips of Whidbey and Fidalgo islands, the park is treasured for its spectacular scenery, rich history and diverse recreational opportunities. Visitors may enjoy fishing, hiking, camping, swimming, boating, photography, beach exploration, scuba diving, learning or simply relaxing.

The park also is respected for its sacred values, the power of its beauty and spirit. Forests with centuries-old trees, tide pools with vibrant but sensitive marine life, and viewpoints of stunning beauty set this park apart from everyday life.

Attracted by its abundant resources and protected shorelines, Coast Salish tribes settled the area now known as Deception Pass. These tribes are well known for their spiritual strength and artistic accomplishments. Their stories continue to be an integral element of the park's values.

Captain Salvador Fidalgo of Spain explored the area in 1792, leaving behind many Spanish names that are still used today, including Rosario Beach and Fidalgo Island. At about the same time, Captain George Vancouver of England explored the area. He believed the pass was the mouth of the river until his lieutenant sailed around the land to the south, discovering that the adjacent land was actually an island. Vancouver named the island after his lieutenant, Joseph Whidbey. Having been deceived by the narrow waterway, Vancouver named the waterway Deception Pass.

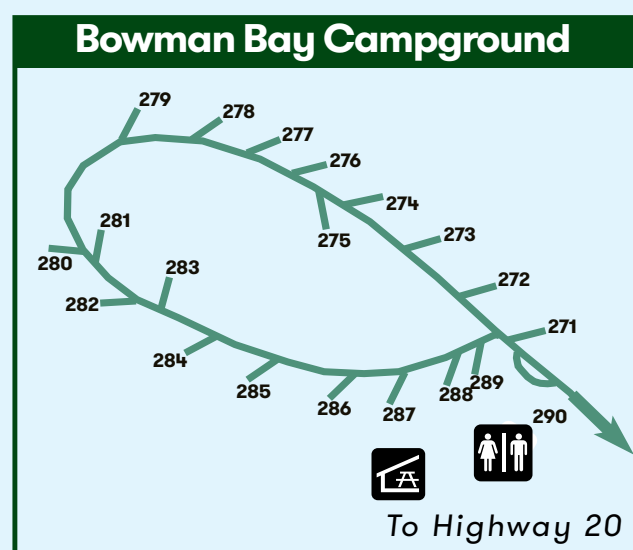

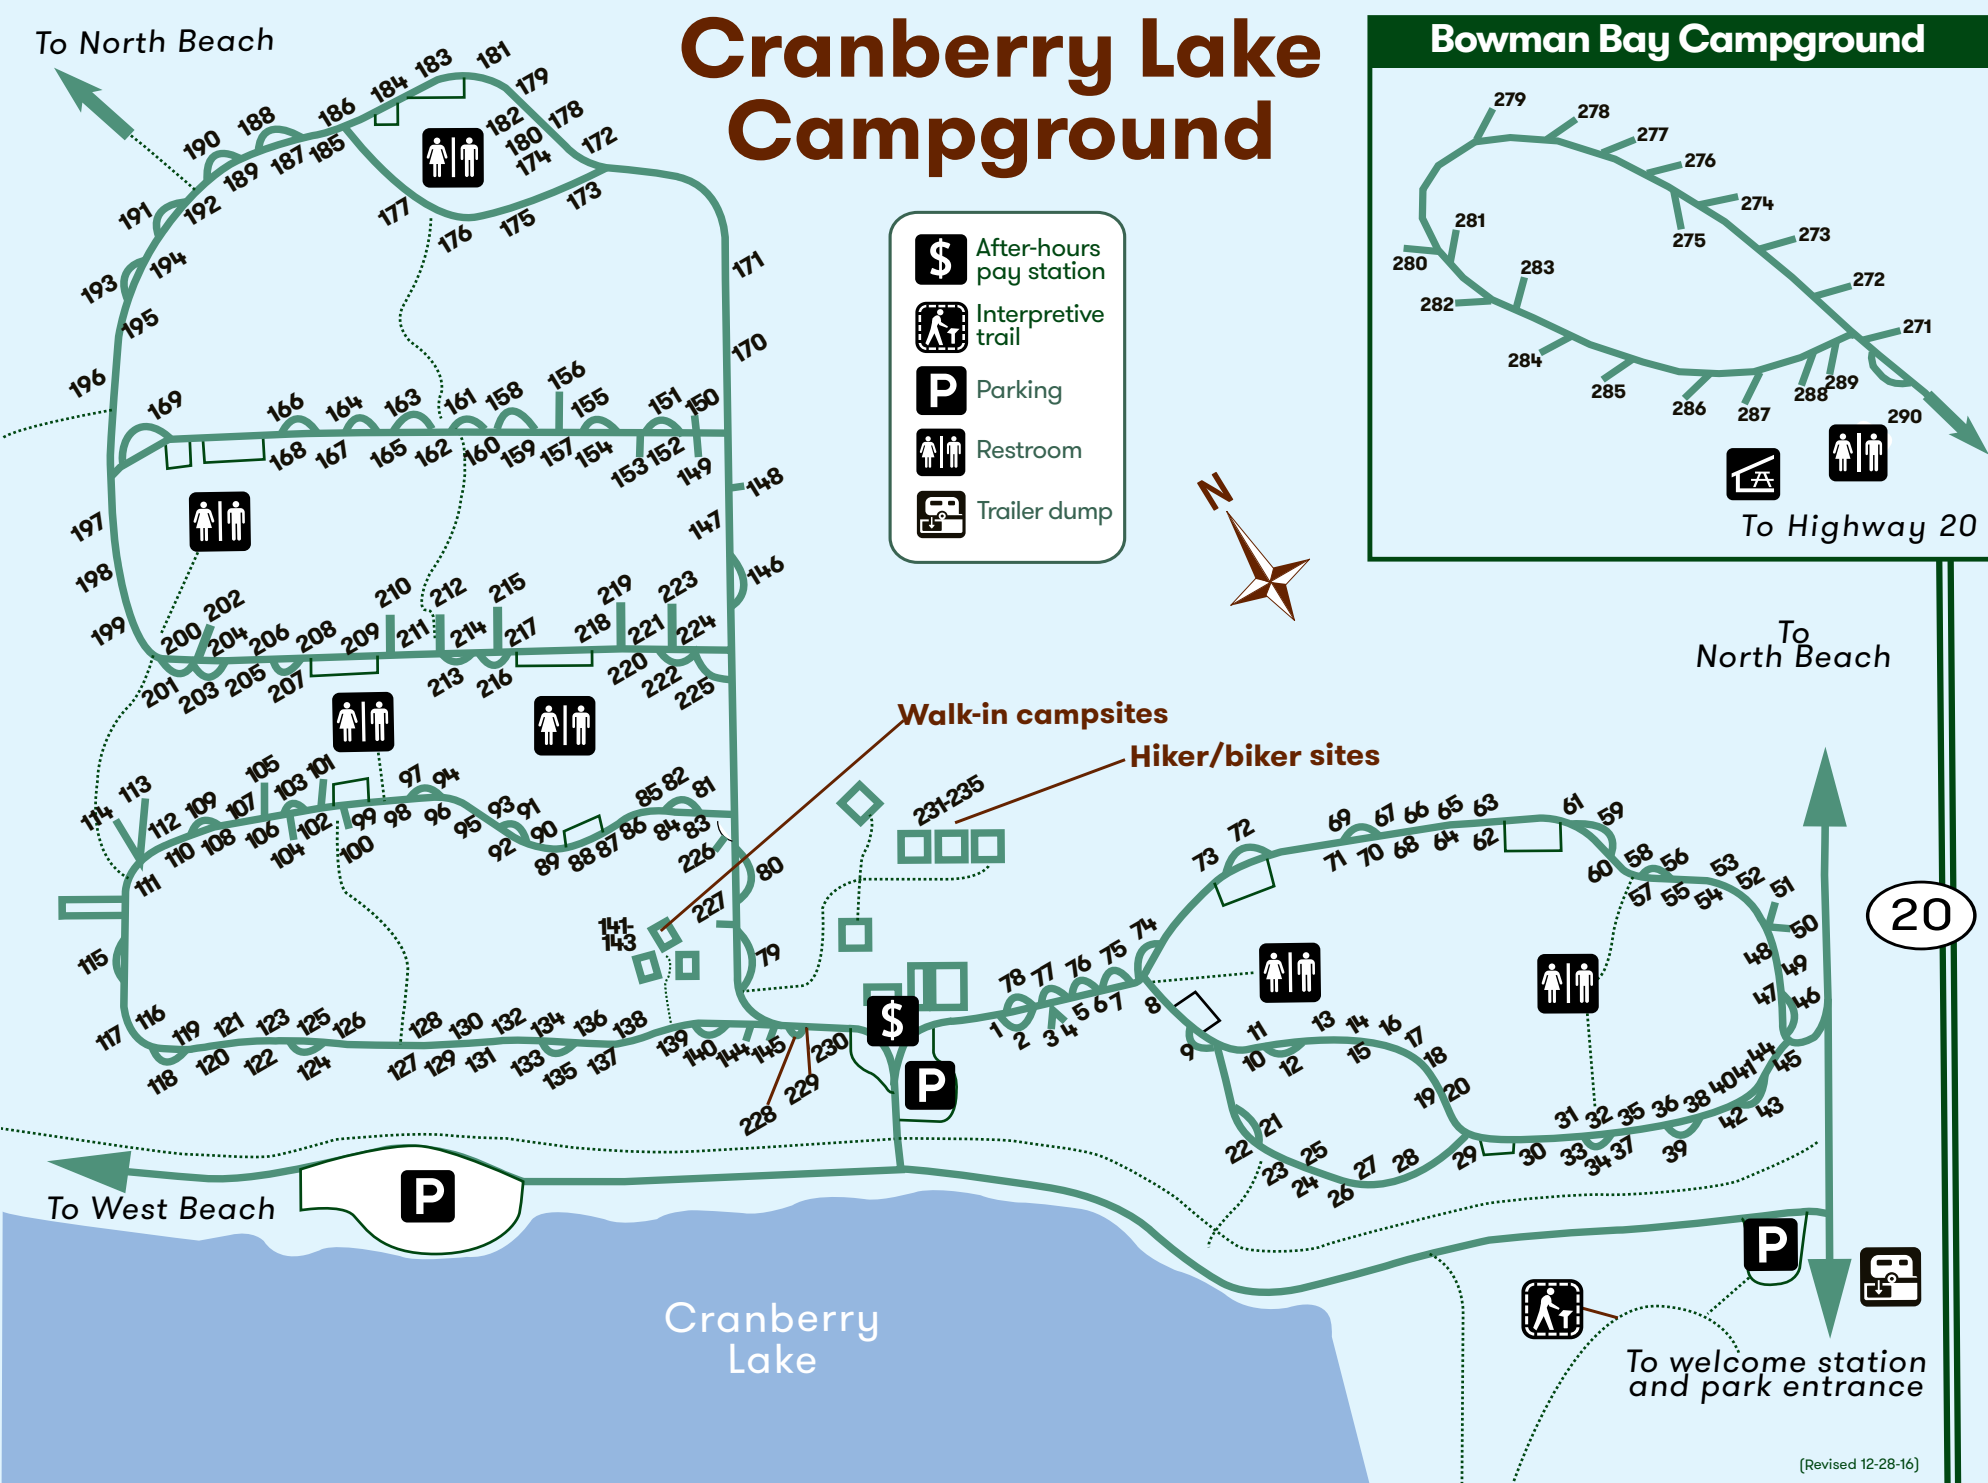

In 1866, the United States government set aside the land around the pass as a military reservation. A Congressional Act designated the property for public recreation in 1922, creating Deception Pass State Park. During the Great Depression of the 1930s, the Civilian Conservation Corps built roads, trails, buildings and log railings to develop the park for visitors. Look for evidence of their construction throughout the park.

Deception Pass State Park welcomes you. Discover its many secrets and pleasures. Explore its scenic beauty and spectacular setting. Visit with friends and family, or in quiet solitude. Adventure and discovery await you.
